lands and feel their huge weight. "I am a student of animation and photography is an important part of my course. So when I learnt about this trail, I knew this was an opportunity I would not have got again," said Pujja Das, a member of Passions Club.

It wasn't too difficult to spot the red, as, in addition to the abundance of yellow marigolds, roses and hibiscus ruled the market. Add to that the clear view of the majestic Howrah Bridge and the heady aroma of the flowers, the morning could not have been any more perfect. And as proof of that, members posted hundreds of photographs from the trail on our FB page Calcutta Times Passions Club — Photography. Alfred Hitchcock's classic on stage

Alfred Hitchcock's classic, Dial M For Murder, will be staged by Theatretracian on November 28 at GD Birla Sabhagar. It's a clash of the young thespians, Dhruv Mookerji and Tathagata Chowdhury. Dhruv, who recently won the Best Actor award in the short play category in a competition, will be seen performing the part of the devious husband, Tony Wendice.

Presented by Rotary Club of Calcutta, South City Trust, admission to the play is by invitation only. Rotarian Srinithi, the chartered president, felt a Theatretracian production would be ideal to raise funds for various charitable events the club is involved with.

"Tathagata is the most daring and experimental young director we have in the city!"

After 12 Angry Jurors, Towards Zero, The Night of January 16th, this is another thriller being directed by him. "This time I have been very straight jacket," says the director who is otherwise known to experiment and push the envelope.

Apart from Dhruv as the mastermind and Tathagata as the detective, the rest of the cast include Zahid Hoosain, Aaron Tangrain and Zara Sengupta too.
